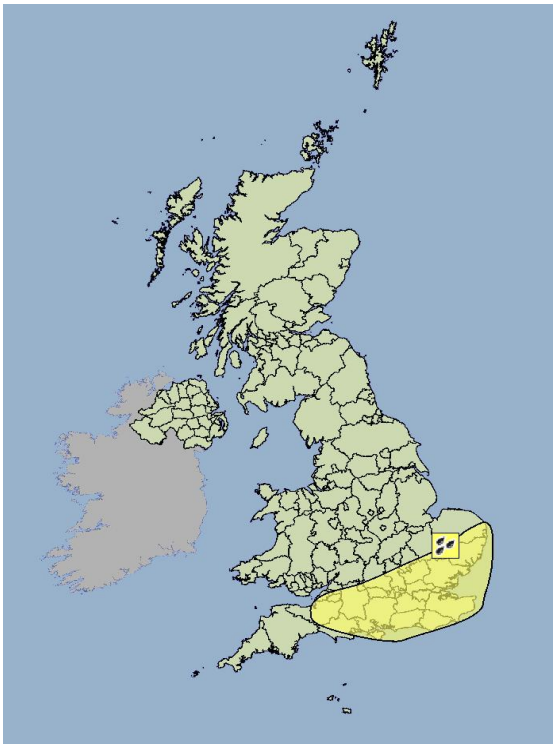
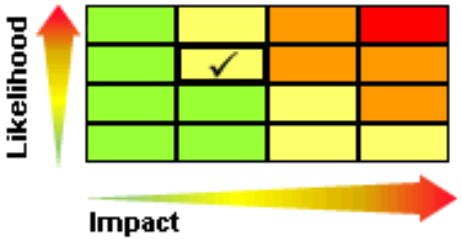
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
There are already some areas of rain and showers across southern areas, but as temperatures increase this morning, these are likely to become heavy in places, with localised downpours possible. Furthermore, as on recent days, the showers may well organise themselves into slow-moving bands of heavy rain, which may produce 20 to 30 mm of rain over 2 or 3 hours.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Rain

Valid from 12:00 on Fri, 15th Apr 2016 until 20:00 on Fri, 15th Apr 2016

Heavy, possibly thundery, showers or some longer spells of rain are expected to become more widespread through today, particularly this afternoon and early evening. Although some places will miss the heavier rain, where it occurs, please be aware of the possibility of local surface water flooding.
